Unlike the B491 - 1996 document, the A142 - 2004 does not rely on A201 for its general conditions of the contract. Instead, the A142 - 2004 Agreement Between Design-Builder and Contractor contains its own Terms and Conditions; it obligates the contractor to perform the work in accordance with the Contract Documents, which include the A142-2004 with its attached exhibits as well as:

Standard Form of Agreement Between Owner and Architect

In 1997, the AIA released its flagship owner-architect agreement B141-1997 as a two-part document. The AIA revised the format of B141 by separating the agreement into two parts: B141-1997 Part 1, the agreement terms, and B141-1997 Part 2, the scope of the architect's services. The AIA made this change to recognize, in a very
