Chrysler Fifth Avenue 1990 1993

The Chrysler Fifth Avenue was a trim level/option package or model name used by Chrysler for its larger sedans from 1979 to 1993. The Fifth Avenue name was no longer used after 1993 when Chrysler introduced its new LH-platform New Yorker and similar LHS. The title "Fifth Avenue" references a street in New York City in the United States which contains many upscale shops and cultural attractions.

The 1990-1993 Fifth Avenue was a latecomer to the EEK (Extended K Car) lineup; the most luxurious of the K's. They're not terribly well represented on the web, so this is my attempt to rectify that. The Fifth's sister, the Imperial, will also be covered here as the cars were very similar. Please stop by the Discussion page and leave your thoughts!
