Touching My Father's Soul was a phenomenal read about a myriad of topics centered superficially around Jamling Tenzing Norgay's Mt. Everest expedition but, on a thorough reading, about so much more than that, including Buddhist beliefs and spirituality, reconciling with his father's fame and absence from his life, and coming to grips with mortality and the constant presence of Chomolungma, the ...

Touching Father Daughter Quotes "The father of a daughter is nothing but a high-class hostage. A father turns a stony face to his sons, berates them, shakes his antlers, paws the ground, snorts, runs them off into the underbrush, but when his daughter puts her arm over his shoulder and says, "Daddy, I need to ask you something," he is a pat of butter in a hot frying pan."

I was very excited to find Touching My Father's Soul, written by the son of Tenzing Norgay, who along with Edmund Hillary was the first to summit Everest in 1953. Jamling followed his father's footsteps up Everest in 1996, and his account offered a Sherpa perspective on the mountain and the people who climb it.
